Re: Portland Harbor Superfund Site;
Portland General Electric's Responses to EPA 104(e) Requests
Second Batch of Responses

Dear Ms. Koch and Ms. Yamamoto:

As required by the letter from EPA dated January 26, 2009, PGE will be submitting its responses to EPA's 104(e) Requests relating to the Portland Harbor Superfund Site in four batches. Enclosed are electronic copies of Portland General Electric Company's second batch of responses. The first batch was submitted to EPA on February 27, 2009. The enclosed discs include six property-specific responses including: Wacker Substation, World Trade Center, Riverview Substation, Willbridge Substation, Rivergate Substations (North and South), and Pennwalt Substations (North and South).

All of the response materials will be provided electronically on compact disks (CDs). For EPA's convenience, each of these responses also includes copies of applicable Supplements S1 through S7 -- the general, company-wide responses. Please note that additional Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDSs) were located after the submission of the first batch of responses, so Supplement S2 has been revised to include the new MSDSs.

Some of the materials submitted in response to this information request contain confidential business information which is protected under 40 CFR 2, Subpart B. A subset of this information may also be considered confidential Critical Energy Infrastructure Information, as defined by Federal Energy Regulatory Commission rules, 18 CFR 388.112-113. In both cases, these files have been placed on separate CDs, marked either "Confidential" or "Contains Critical Energy Infrastructure Information -- Do Not Release (18 CFR 388.112-113)". In the event that anyone contacts EPA for purposes of obtaining copies of these materials, prior to releasing them please contact:

Please let us know if you have any questions about the enclosed materials, or need any additional information.

Sincerely,
